TURKIC LANGUAGES

Information and Guidelines for Contributors (effective April 1997)

Contents. TURKIC LANGUAGES contains articles, comprehensive review articles, reviews, contributions to discussions (remarks and replies), reports, surveys of publications, lists of publications received, and addresses of contributors.

Original contributions. As a rule, only original contributions are accepted. Submission of a manuscript implies that it has not been previously published and that it is not under review elsewhere.

Language. The preferred language of publication is English. Authors not writing in their mother-tongue are asked to have their manuscripts checked with respect to language and style.

Length of contributions. The suggested length of articles and review articles is 10–20 pages. Contributions to discussions (remarks and replies) should be limited to a maximum of four pages.

Submission of manuscripts. Authors are requested to send a double-spaced hard copy of any manuscript submitted for publication. The text should be written on one side of the paper only, with generous left margins, and with double-spacing throughout, including footnotes and references. Manuscripts should have a separate title page with the author's name and full mailing address. Whenever possible, the text should also be submitted on a diskette (preferably Apple Macintosh) along with the hard copy. Manuscripts and diskettes containing contributions accepted for publication will not be returned.

Style sheet. Contributors are requested to comply with the style sheet, published in TL 1 (1997) 1.

Permissions. It is the author's responsibility to request any permission required for the use of material owned by others.

Abstracts. Authors submitting articles and review articles are requested to include an English abstract of about 100 words.

Referee system. The journal uses a referee system in order to ensure a high standard. The anonymous reviewers will only read copies of the contributions without any identification of the author. While they may give suggestions for improvements, they are not obliged to specify the motivations for their decision to recommend or not to recommend publication in each case.

Proofs. Authors will receive one copy of the first proof, which, duly corrected, should be returned within the specified time. Changes against the original manuscript must be avoided or kept to a minimum.

Offprints. 25 offprints of each contribution will be supplied free of charge. Authors of articles (including comprehensive review articles) will also receive a free copy of the issue in which their article appears. Additional offprints are available at cost and must be ordered in advance.
